

Jerry Damschroder – May 31, 2013

It is with a heavy heart that I relay the passing of Jerry Damschroder. Jerry was first and foremost a friend, mentor and champion of long lasting relationships. Jerry's long and valiant battle with cancer was intense and in true Jerry style, filled with compassion for those around him. He went as comfortably and peacefully as one can in these times, with his brother by his side.

As we all know Jerry's circle of friends is amazingly large and full of warm, caring people. Our hope is to let all who have been touched by Jerry's friendship know of his passing, so I ask you to relay (I realize it is not an easy task) to all those you can think of. We do not wish to miss anyone, but it is difficult to speak to everyone at this moment in time.

His family is working to honor his memory and arrangements are being made right now. The details will be available shortly. If you wish to know what is taking place, please let me or Liz know and we will share those with you, once they are determined.

In the very short window of beginning to deliver this message it is without surprise the love that Jerry had for his friends and family is being reflected and returned in great stories of the past times many have spent with Jerry. We thank all those that have reached out and appreciate the warm memories they are sharing with us. They are comforting at a time like this.

Sorry for delivering this message via e-mail and for those that have already heard sorry for delivering this twice.

Please forgive us for missing anyone.

From the Damschroder family.
